To our valued clients,

This past week was the first on-site training course delivered by VieTech Training & Consulting since the beginning of the COVID-19 Pandemic. As always, our instructors take the health and safety of your employees very seriously and abide by the policies outlined by your organization while working in your facility. This 3-day Advanced Diesel Engine Technology Training course was delivered in practice, sensitivity and compliance with COVID-19, physical distancing measures of both the client and the Provincial and Federal Government.

The content and delivery format of our traditional on-site training program was modified to accommodate additional distance and hygiene measures in both the boardroom and the shop.

Some changes included:

- Elimination of partnered laptop use
- Elimination of partnered practical examinations
- Omission of breakout sessions (group/partner activities and/or assignment)
- Pre-packaged & sealed individual student training material packages
- Supplied disinfectant wipes for in classroom surfaces
- Nightly sterilization of student laptops
- Use of 80" Projector screen to accommodate student spacing in shop
- No physical intervention by instructor at any time throughout course
- Instructor limited to the front of the classroom always 6 feet from nearest student

Just as your own business, we are continually learning and adapting as an organization to serve our clients safely and effectively during this pandemic while still maintaining the highest quality of service. We constantly use observations and recommendations from individual training courses to further improve technologies and strategies used for delivery of our services.
